About me

I am a very curious person who always likes to learn something new. I'm not afraid to get involved and face new languages, on the contrary it is an extra motivation for me. I am a web programmer with past experience in mobile and video games and at the moment I am studying node.js and react.js.At work I am honest and I am not afraid of making mistakes (they are part of the game), I am focused on what I do and I always give my all. I am always looking for perfection (if it ever exists), sociable and dynamic I am able to work as a team
